NEGRO UPRISING CAUSING DREAD IN CUBA

PETITIONS FROM ALL QUARTERS
POUR INTO HAVANA FOR PRO-TECTION FROM BLACKS

Gomez Protests to Taft Against American Intervention as Unnecessary Action.

By The Associated Press.
Havana, May 26.—Reports from the scene of the military operations in Oriente province are meagre.
The troops are still engaged in carrying out the carefully laid plans of General Mendota to envelope the rebel forces, close in on all sides and compel their surrender. In an engagement between regulars last night and a band of rebels, several of the latter were killed, two captured and the remainder dispersed.
The loss to the troops is not given.

CONDITION BAD AT ORIENTE.

By The Associated Press.
Santiago, Cuba, May 26.—Conditions in the province of Oriente continue to be extremely alarming.
From all quarters petitions are pouring in for protection which the government is unable to furnish because all available troops are being concentrated for the purpose of surrounding the main bodies of the rebels under Generals Estomza and Vinet.

GOMEZ PROTESTS TO TAFT.

By The Associated Press.
Havana, May 26.—President Gomez tonight sent a cablegram to President Taft protesting against intervention by the United States.
"I appeal to you," he confessed,
"as a loyal friend of Cuba, respecting her rights, that you will be convinced that this government is capable and sufficiently supported by the valor and patriotism of the Cuban people to deal promptly with a few unfortunate and misguided persons without reason or flax."

SAY CHURCH CHOICE OF TEDDY FOR ROOT PLACE

MINNESOTA FAVORED BY COL-ONEL FOR TEMPORARY CHAIR-MAN, FRIENDS ASSERT.

St. Paul, Minn., May 26.—A conference last night between Ormsby McHarg of New York, one of the Roosevelt managers, Gifford Pin-chot, former chief forester, and other leaders of the Roosevelt movement in Minnesota, was followed today by an announcement that Senator Moses Clapp of Minnesota will probably be a candidate for temporary chairman of the republican national convention at Chicago next month against Senator Elihu Root.

Hugh T. Halbert of St. Paul, in making the announcement, said that Senator Clapp has been urged for the place by the Minnesota wing of the Roosevelt movement and,
according to McHarg and Pinchot, he is favored by Col. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt sentiment in western states. The conference extended into the evening and neither Col.
Roosevelt or his visitors would reveal the nature of it.

Colonel Roosevelt will leave Sag-amore Hill early tomorrow for the last day of his New Jersey campaign. Speeches have been arranged for Morrisstown, Dover, New-

DISORDERS IN YUCATAN SAID TO BE GROWING

TURK WHO LOST ALL POSSES-SIONS IN LAST REVOLT IS LEADING MARAUDERS.

By The Associated Press.

Mexico City, May 26.—Dispatches from Merida indicate that the disorders in the state of Yucatan are growing. The attack of the Indians on Tekantoc yesterday is said to have been barbaric in character, several persons having been killed and their bodies burned beyond recognition. The town was sacked and the railway station and several other buildings burned.

After leaving Tekantoc the band went to Teya, where the municipal president was killed and the business houses sacked. It is said a Turk who lost all of his possessions on account of the last revolution is leading the Indians who are armed with Winchester and Mauser rifles.

By The Associated Press.

Mexico City, May 26.—Several hundred students and volunteers paraded the streets of the city today in a demonstration for the federal army. Incidentally they celebrated the first anniversary of the ending of the Diaz regime.

Although every precaution had been taken to insure an orderly demonstration several business houses closed their doors and put up the shutters as a safeguard against trouble. After the parade proper broke up, several bands of hooligans marched through the streets making a great noise but doing no damage.

last night under the name of the Georgia Roosevelt Progressive Le-

from the Roosevelt Progressive Republican club, a state organization which includes both white and black.

J. St. Julian Yates, an attorney who is president of the progressive clubs, was elected president of the league. It is the plan of the league to organize all the Georgia counties and also to publish a weekly newspaper devoted to republican politics in the south.

this term will be decided tomorrow by the supreme court of the United States when it convenes into session after a two weeks' recess. It is believed that one more decision will be designated for this term. More than 100 cases are under consideration by the court.

ROOT WILL SERVE AS TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN

Will Act Unless Convention Decides On Some Other Person.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, May 26.—Sen. Elihu Root of New York, who has been named temporary chairman of the republican national convention by a sub-committee of the republican national committee, issued a statement today declaring:

"There is no foundation whatever for the story that I contemplate declining to accept the temporary chairmanship of the republican national convention. The customary duty of the committee on arrangements requires them to designate some one to render that service. I was notified by the committee that they had designated me, and I accepted the designation. Unless, of course, it may be by the convention, I shall serve."

HITCHCOCK APPROVES PARCELS POST BILL

ENDORSES CONSOLIDATION OF
THIRD AND FOURTH CLASSES OF MAIL MATTER.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, May 26.—Unqualified approval of the Bourne parcel post bill was given by Postmaster General Hitchcock in a report upon the measure sent to the senate postoffice committee and made public today.

The consolidation of the third and fourth classes of mail matter would greatly facilitate the admission of mail matter, the postmaster general said. The delivery of parcels to the limit of 11 pounds on 11 rural routes and within the delivery limits of free carrier office will likewise be approved as economical and convenient to the public.

The establishment of limits of area in various dimensions of latitude and longitude and various charges for the several zones will be referred to as certain to lessen the cost of transportation, to stimulate the general trade in small wares, increase postal revenues and pave the way for other postoffice reforms.

"In my judgment," concluded the postmaster general, "the proposed measure would benefit all classes of the people except those carriers now engaged in the business of transporting small wares. While the patronage of these will be lessened it will have the effect to limit their business to the more weighty freight which is distinctly the business of such carriers."

Neither the house nor senate has acted on the bill.

HOT WEATHER FOR COMING WEEK PREDICTED

By The Associated Press.

Washington, May 26.—Hot weather is promised for the coming week over the greater part of the country east of the Rockies, according to the weekly bulletin of the weather bureau issued tonight.
While temperatures will average generally above the normal on this side of the Rockies, they will be generally normal on the Pacific slope.

"Considerably cooler weather, however, says the bulletin, "will appear in the northwest about Thursday and overspread the middle west by the end of the week. The barometric pressure will remain low districts during the next several days and a well-defined storm area will overspread the middle west Wednesday or Thursday and move eastward to the Atlantic states Friday or Saturday. Except for showers and thunderstorms, attending this disturbance, the week will be one of generally fair weather."

NEGRO LYNCHED BY MOB OF FARMERS

BLACK, CHARGED WITH AS-SAULTING WOMAN, TAKEN FROM OFFICERS.

Carried Into Field Near Nashville and Riddled With Hundreds of Bullets.

By The Associated Press.

Nashville, Tenn., May 26.—Jake Samsel, a negro charged with criminally assaulting Mrs. Walter Ramsey, wife of a Robertson county farmer, was taken from officers early this morning by a mob of citizens and riddled with bullets.
Ramsey left his wife and two small children at home alone Saturday to go to Orinda, one mile away, to buy some provisions. Enroute he met the negro. Knowing that Mrs.
Ramsey was alone, it is alleged, the negro went direct to her home and assaulted her. She was dragged from her bed into the yard and when the negro fled she walked half a mile to give the alarm.

Samuel's arrest and identification followed. Having been identified as the assailant, he was taken from the officers, carried into a field and riddled with hundreds of bullets.

gin upon the closing week of the business of the church, the principal event being the selection of editors of the various church papers.

MEMBERS OF MOB POUND TIES HOME

FAIL TO SECURE NEGRO IN WACO AND ARE DRIVEN FROM COTTON BELT TRAIN.

Walk to Mt. Calm Sunday, Hoping to Take Charge of Train, But Officers Prevent.

Beginning with a tragedy Saturday morning at Tyler when a mob burned a negro at the stake, its efforts to secure another negro in Waco ended in a farce early Sunday morning. Sunday night, over 100 members of the mob of 255 men, unable to pay their fare home, were last heard of at Mt. Calm, about 25 miles east of Waco on the Cotton Belt. They were walking the ties, defeated in their effort to board train No. 2, which leaving Waco, carried Sheriff George Tilley at the head of 20 deputized and armed officers, including members of the city police force and several citizens.

Arriving in Waco at 2:30 o'clock
Sunday morning on Cotton Belt train No. 3, of which they took charge at Tyler and refused to pay their fares, the men went to the county jail, from which George Price, a negro implicated by Dan Davis, a negro in criminally assaulting a young white girl, had been spirited away. Davis, after confessing at Tyler Saturday morning, to having also assaulted Miss Carrie May Johnson, a 16-year-old girl, was burned in the court house yard. After searching the jail in Waco, the city jail was then searched but no trace of the negro was found.

Leave Train in Waco.

Early Sunday morning, the members of the mob went to the union station with the intention of boarding a Cotton Belt train and riding home free. Assistant Chief of Police, Prather, prevailed on the men to either pay their fare or leave the train, and thus avoid trouble. All but about 125 decided to buy a ticket. Those refusing to pay their fare left the train and walked to Axtell, saying that they understood
Price had been taken there.

Early in the afternoon, Sheriff Tilley was advised that plans had been made to hold up train No. 2 at Axtell last night and take charge of it. Accordingly, he secured a number of officers, deputized some citizens, 20 in all, and left on No. 2.
Arriving at Axtell, he learned that the mob had heard of his coming and walked on to Mt. Calm. Arriving at Mt. Calm, and finding officers on the train, the second delegation, about 25, purchased tickets and boarded it. The others started on east, walking the tracks.

Deputy Sheriff Returns.

Upon learning that the mob was coming Sunday night, Deputy Sheriff Phil Hobbs, Alvah Hatch and Frank Craven, left with the negro wanted in Tyler in an automobile.
Hatch and Craven returned late last night. Hobbs put in an appearance Sunday afternoon. Where none but Mr. Hobbs and Sheriff Tilley know. Both refuse to discuss the case. The officers who went to Axtell and Mt. Calm last night include Sheriff George Tilley; deputies, Frank Craven, Phil Hobbs, Alva Hatch; Constable Leslie Steggall; Deputy Constables Joe Mc-Lennan, Lee Huff, Sim Sheppard, J.
W. Taylor, George Barnard, John Morgan and Sol Frazier.

EARTHQUAKE AGAIN SHAKES GUADALAJARA

MANY WALLS OF BUILDINGS ARE CRACKED AND PEOPLE ARE IN STATE OF TERROR.

Guadalajara, Mex., May 25.—This city was again violently shaken by an earthquake at 10:15 tonight.
The shock was the heaviest recorded during the present period of seismic disturbances. Cornices of buildings were broken in several instances and many walls were cracked. Thousands of people fled from their houses and prepared to pass the night in the parks and gardens.
A second shock, but much lighter, followed twenty minutes later.

For more than two weeks, since the first heavy earthquake the light tremors have been experienced at intervals but the people were retaining their composure. Terror again has taken possession of them.

NEW JERSEY IS GIVEN DAY'S REST

CANDIDATES AND SUPPORTERS
ALSO LAY OFF SPELL IN FIGHT FOR STATE TOMORROW.

Candidates Are All Confident of Victory in Primaries to Be Held Tuesday.

By The Associated Press.
Newark, N. J., May 26.—President Taft, Col. Roosevelt and Senator La Follette rested today, after two days of campaigning; they have done in their fight for the presidential nomination. The president and Col. Roosevelt have made more than 40 speeches each since last Thursday and plan to wind up their speaking tours by two days more of rigorous work. Senator La Follette has made fewer speeches but has addressed many thousands of voters.

Wilson Defines Issue.
Gov. Wilson's supporters declare that his speech at Jersey City last night defined the principal issue at stake in the democratic primary campaign. The governor asserted that the real instructions given the "uninstructed" delegates on the democratic ticket would be "anybody but Wilson." The republican and democratic campaigns in New Jersey differ widely in that the three republican candidates have made their appeals on national issues while Gov. Wilson and his supporters and the local speakers who are pleading for the defeat of the governor have made their fight on the party struggle within the state.

Taft Men Optimistic.
The Taft managers today expressed satisfaction with the president's tour in the "commuting zone" where more than half the population of the state resides. This part of the state is also the factory district. Roosevelt leaders say their candidate will receive a vote from the factory workers that will more than overcome any support Taft may get from the "business men" vote in residence towns near New York.

Roosevelt Claims Sweeping.
Both sides claim the four delegates at large which will be elected by the vote of the whole state, and at least 16 out of the 24 district delegates. If anything the Roosevelt claims are the more sweeping.

The first four districts, which extend from Cape May on the south as far north as New York City, are in doubt. Each side claims two as "sure."

Taft in Harness Today.
The president will start early tomorrow visiting the towns along the Atlantic coast. The president will continue his fight right up to the opening hour of the primary election, having arranged today to speak at Middlesboro at noon tomorrow.

Col. Roosevelt spent the day at Oyster Bay. Tomorrow he will invade the country to the southwest of this city, going as far south as Princeton.

Taft Spends Quiet Day.
By The Associated Press.

New York, May 26.—President Taft today attended church, went for an automobile ride to Van Cortlandt Park and late in the afternoon joined in the Fifth Avenue promenade. He received no political visitors at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft. He attended services in the morning at the church of the Messiah in East 34th street and was accompanied by his brother and his secretary, C. D. Hilles.

At Van Cortlandt Park the president reviewed the squadron "A" of the national guard. New York. While walking in Fifth Avenue, the president, accompanied by Henry W. Taft and Secretary Hilles, was recognized and within ten minutes, 600 persons had surrounded him. Inspector McCluskey and a half dozen policemen had to escort him to the home of John L. Cadwalder, Henry W. Taft's law partner, in East 56th street. The party returned to the Taft home in West 48th street in the president's automobile.

It has not been decided whether President Taft will extend his campaign tour to South Dakota, where the primaries are to be held in June. That will be the last state to choose delegates in a primary election. The president asserted that he has a sufficient number of delegates to secure the nomination and that it is not essential that he enter personally in to the contest.

COURT DENIES SCANDAL.
Special to The Morning News.

Brussels, May 26.—A semi-official communique dealing with false reports as to the private life of the royal family was issued today in the following terms:

"Since a recent garden party held at Lacken, calumnious rumors have been put in circulation concerning the private life of the royal family. It was even declared that on the day of the garden party the queen of the Belgians surprised King Albert in the company of a lady of the chamber, and that the queen shot the woman dead with a revolver."

"King Albert had no knowledge of these reports, although for several days military officers attached to the court had learned of them by telephone calls, both from Belgium and abroad. After consultation it was decided to acquaint the king with the report. His majesty was astonished and very indignant. He decided to prosecute the authors of the reports and all persons representing them."

"Criminal proceedings were instituted before the king's prosecutor."

REAL ESTATE WOULD REGULATE BUSINESS

URGE LAW PLACING CONTROL IN HANDS OF STATE BOARD TO PROTECT AGAINST FRAUD.

In seeking to elevate the standard of the real estate business by making it impossible for the "curbstone" and unscrupulous dealer to operate longer, the Texas Real Estate association is advocating the passage of a bill by the legislature to license the real estate dealers in the state. By enactment of the proposed measure a dealer would be required to have a certificate of good moral character in order to engage in business and the entire real estate industry of the state would be placed under the general supervision of a real estate board appointed by the governor.

As president of the Real Estate association, Hall P. Street of San Antonio has urged the enactment of a bill to license dealers and thereby place the real estate business on a higher level. It is his belief that by so doing the reputable dealers will protect themselves against the damage done to the calling by operations of dishonest and unscrupulous men. At the first annual meeting of the association in Temple a bill of this character was prepared and endorsed by the organization. It is now in the hands of the legislative committee and will probably be introduced at the next session of the legislature, when strong influences will be brought to bear for its adoption. A copy of the proposed bill is as follows:

What Its Provisions Are.
"An act to regulate the real estate business."

"Providing for the licensing of those engaged in the buying or selling of real estate as agents on fee or commission, and establishing a state real estate board and for the prevention of frauds and providing penalties for the violation thereof."

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the people of the state of Texas, that no person be permitted to engage or operate within the state of Texas in the buying or selling of real estate as an agent of any person, firm or corporation, whether said real estate be located in, to hold himself out as such agent, or by signing or subscribing his name or the name of any other person or corporation, to any real estate transaction as such agent or employee or officer of such corporation, or to receive any fee, commission, or compensation for any transaction in real estate as such agent, without having previously obtained a license for that purpose in accordance with the provision of this act."

"Section 2. No person shall be entitled to receive a license as aforesaid until he shall have obtained a certificate of his good moral character from at least two reputable citizens of the county in which his legal residence shall be maintained, which shall be within this state."

"Section 3. Any person producing such license as a real estate agent or other evidence proving that he has been licensed as a real estate agent in any other state of the United States and of his good moral character and has the qualifications required by this act, may be licensed and permitted to transact business as a real estate agent in this state without receiving any license as hereafter provided."

"Section 4. For the carrying out of the provisions of this act the governor shall appoint five persons who are residents of this state, and who shall have been for not less than five years prior thereto engaged in the real estate business, who shall constitute the real estate board of the state of Texas."

"Section 5. The persons so appointed shall hold their offices for four years or until their successors have been appointed and qualified, provided, however, that the terms of office of the first incumbents of said office shall be so arranged that the term of one shall expire on January 1 of each year, and the vacancy so created, as well as all vacancies otherwise occurring, shall be filled by the governor."

"Section 6. The state real estate board shall have general supervision of the practice of the real estate business in this state. They shall have entire charge of approving all applications for licenses for the practice of real estate as herein provided and shall meet at some central point selected by them at least once each three months during the year, and at such meeting three members shall constitute a quorum. The members of such board shall have the right to adopt all reasonable rules for the regulation of business transacted by them in the hearing of petitions and the granting of licenses as provided by this act, and providing for the time and place of such meetings."

It shall be the duty of the real estate board to pass upon all applications for licenses to practice the real estate business and in case any person already licensed by them shall be found guilty in the federal courts or in the courts of any state of the United States of perpetrating fraud in any real estate transaction,

ALWAYS WRITE OWN LOVE LETTERS

OKLAHOMAN WHO HAD ANOTHER
DO IT LOSES WIFE WHEN SHE LEARNS OF DUPLICITY.

Temporarily Acquired Spouse and a Fortune by His Vicarious Epistolary Eloquence.

Special to The Morning News.

Kansas City, May 26.—Never marry a man because you get nice letters from him, for he may have had someone else to write them, is the advice of Mrs. Elizabeth Covey, 610 Cheyenne avenue, Kansas City, Kas., whose petition for a divorce from Jasper Covey was denied yesterday by Judge Frank D. Hutchins in the Second division of the Wyandotte county district court. Mrs. Covey learned afterwards, she said, that the letters of affection which won her were written by another man.

Mrs. Covey was a widow. She decided to take a husband in order to have someone to look after her affairs. A friend told her of a man in Muskogee who wanted a wife, recommended the Oklahoma man and said he would tell him to write. "He wrote such nice letters," Mrs. Covey said yesterday. "We corresponded for several months and then he came to see me. He was of nice appearance and we got married. Within a week I learned that he couldn't even write and that some one else had written all his letters." Mrs. Covey said that her husband refused to hunt work and seemed to expect her to support him. Finally, when she refused to pay his board, he left.

such license may, on proper hearing to be provided by them, revoked and, on revocation, no other license shall be issued to such person. "Section 6. The real estate board, as above provided, shall maintain a roll or roster of all persons so licensed by them in this state, and shall issue at the time of such licensing a certificate of the same on the terms hereinafter provided for."

"Section 7.—The real estate board shall, within thirty days after its appointment, meet and organize and arrange rules and provide for the application and licensing of such real estate agents, and the fee to be paid by each applicant on his application for license shall be the sum of ten ($10) dollars. The members of the real estate board shall serve without salary and shall receive such fee as compensation for their services."

GIRL CUT AND SENSELESS.
FOUND LYING IN ALLEY

Mutters That Negro Attacked Her and Says No More—Wounds On Throat and Breast.

Special to The Morning News.

Frederick, Md., May 26.—Mystery surrounds the finding of a young girl bleeding and unconscious in Frederick today. She is Phoebe May Fogle, the 18-year-old daughter of Solomon Fogle. She was discovered this morning in an alley leading from Bentz street and had a cut three inches long extending from the side of her neck across her throat and a small cut from her neck to her breast. Beyond a moment's lucidity, when she muttered that she had been attacked by a negro, nothing intelligible has passed her lips. The authorities are puzzling over the case and are anxiously awaiting a statement from the young woman.

She left home shortly after breakfast, saying she was going to gather flowers. Two hours later her mother, becoming alarmed, instituted search. At a point in an alley, 50 feet from Bentz street, leading to Carroll creek, the girl was found. She was lying on her back, with arms outstretched.

Her dress at the collar was pulled aside, showing a cut under her chin only skin deep. It exposed the windpipe, however, which would have been severed had the weapon been sharp. The other cut was an extension of the first, only that a jump had been made from the neck to the breast. Both bled but slightly.

No indication of a struggle was evident. Her clothing was not torn, and, according to Dr. Ira J. McCurdy, no assault had been committed. She carried a fire shovel when she left home, and this was found by her side. No knife or edged instrument was found, notwithstanding the cuts were apparently made with a knife. Circumstances at first indicated assault and attempt at murder, and it was thought she had been beaten over the head and then cut and that she had been left for dead.

No one saw her go into the alley. An aged colored man was discovered near the scene, but he denied knowledge of the affair. He said he did not know she had been found until told of it by the sheriff, and his story is believed by the authorities.

Miss Fogle was discovered by two boys, Roy Baker and Earl Abrecht, who joined Mrs. Fogle in the search. According to the boys, she was muttering incoherently and showed evidence of hysteria when they reached her side. After being carried to a neighboring house she lapsed into unconsciousness, and efforts to restore her have been of no avail.

Sheriff Fagan and Deputies Deeter and Cramer visited the spot, but were unable to discover anything to throw light on the affair. State's Attorney Samuel J. Lewis also made an investigation. It is thought she may have attempted suicide by taking poison and afterward inflicting the wounds. No trace of poison has been found, and the cuts are not thought to be self-inflicted.

TEXAS WINDOW UNVEILED.

Old Blandford Church At Petersburg Has New Adornment.

Special to The Morning News.

Petersburg, Va., May 26.—Impressive ceremonies marked the unveiling in old Blandford church this afternoon of the state of Texas memorial window, which has been set in place in this historic edifice among others of the Southern states. The window, which is on the west side of the church, bears a figure of St. Luke and this inscription:

"In memory of the brave Texans who fell in and around Petersburg, Va., for the cause they knew to be right."

"Come from all four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain that they may live"—Ezekiel, xxxvii, 25.

The seal of the state is a white star of four points on an azure field encircled by an olive and live oak branches.

The unveiling of the window was under the auspices of the Ladies' Memorial association, and there was a large attendance. Among those who took part in the ceremonies, besides the Ladies' Memorial association, were the daughters of the Confederacy, A. P. Hill camp of Confederate Veterans, and A. P. Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans.

The dedicatory address was by Rev. C. Branton Bryan, chaplain of A. P. Hill camp of Confederate Veterans. Mrs. Rosenberg of Texas, who did much toward securing the window, performed the act of unveiling.

Other Confederate memorial windows were unveiled on June 3, the birthday of Jefferson Davis, the only president of the Confederacy. These windows have been given by the states of Florida and Georgia.

Leipzig, May 26.—The first of the preliminaries to select Germany's representative for the Olympic games were contested today in cold weather which greatly hampered the athletes. Olympic figures were not approached except in the 100-metre, which Kern of Munich won in 11 1/10 seconds. The 100-metre run was won by Vietz in 33 minutes, 4 1/10 seconds. This is a new German record. The shot put measured only 27 feet, 26 1/2 inches and the discus throw 122 feet, 2 1/2 inches.

TEXAS WILL HOLD CONVENTIONS TOMORROW

REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATS MEET IN FORT WORTH AND HOUSTON THEN.

Wilson Will Control Is Likely; Roosevelt Is Ahead of President Taft.

By The Associated Press.

Dallas, Tex., May 26.—Texas will have two state presidential conventions Tuesday which will say the final word as to how this state's delegates will vote in the national convention on both republican and democratic candidates. There seems no likelihood that either party will send uncommitted delegates.

The democrats meet at Houston to name 40 delegates and the republicans at Fort Worth to name 8. The democratic delegates include both the eight delegates at large and the 32 district delegates which under the democratic party's system in Texas are named by the state convention instead of by the districts. There are no indications that this rule will be broken at Tuesday's convention, for the state conventions were elected with the general understanding that this custom would apply.

Wilson Has Majority.

As the Wilson supporters have a majority in the state convention they predict that they will name all delegates for Wilson. A few Harman men have noted that the three districts Harman, or Harman and Clark, supporters together outnumbered the Wilson supporters in the number of votes elected to the state convention. According to Texas precedent, however, these district majorities could have no weight toward naming any Harman delegates to Baltimore without the consent of the Wilson majority in the convention.

Lyon Claims Victory.

The republican convention is called to name eight delegates at large, 22 district delegates, already having been elected. State republican executive committee Cecil A. Lyons announces contests from 17 counties and says the convention will be 5 to 1 for Roosevelt. Lyons is the Roosevelt leader. H. F. McGregor, the Taft leader, has not conceded defeat in the state convention.

The contesting delegations will be heard tomorrow.

In the district republican conventions recently held, nine of the 16 districts have split delegations to the national convention, naming both Taft and Roosevelt delegates. Four instructed for Roosevelt, one instructed for Taft and two will send uncommitted delegates according to press returns to Chicago.

Based on "Uninstructed."

Claims by either faction of the Republican party in Texas based on what the "uninstructed" delegation named in the county convention are going to do. Under the Texas law and party custom the republican state convention Tuesday may pass upon the total of 40 delegates. No announcement is being made as to what action will be taken in this regard.

State press returns from the county returns showed eighty instructed Roosevelt delegates to the state convention and 49 Taft delegates, with a large number of uninstructed.

LOVE FLEW WITH CASH, SAYS DESERTED WIFE.

Her Inheritance Gone, Husband Became Indifferent, Wife Testifies.

Special to The Morning News.

St. Louis, May 26.—After hearing the testimony of Mrs. Mathilda Cramer of the Russett apartments, in her suit for divorce from G. Adolph Cramer, son of a wealthy dry plate manufacturer, this afternoon, Judge Grimm questioned Mrs. Cramer.

"You have testified that your husband was indifferent and that he deserted you," he said. The court must determine whether it was your fault or his that you separated. The court can not grant a divorce simply because some one asks for it. Did you do all you could to make your husband happy?"

Mrs. Cramer was visibly embarrassed. She seemed about to cry. After some hesitation she said:

"I tried to make him happy. There is something I didn't want to tell unless it became necessary. I inherited $50,000 from my father, who died in Chicago a year before my marriage. In 1902 I turned over all of this money to my husband and he spent it. He was fond of horse races. After he spent my money he became indifferent."

TRYING OUT MOTOR CARS FOR MEMORIAL RUN

GREAT AUTOS OF THREE NATIONS MUST SHOW 75 MILE AN HOUR SPEED TO QUALIFY.

By The Associated Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 26.—The mighty motors entered in the second annual 500-mile race to be run at the speedway on Memorial Day were finally tuned today for tomorrow's speed elimination trials. The great cars of America, France and Germany roared over the brick track hour after hour under the eyes of thousands of motor fans.

Each of the 29 entrants must show tomorrow a speed of 75 miles an hour for one lap of 2 1/2 miles or be disqualified. Motor enthusiasts are pouring in from all over the country and 75,000 people it is estimated, will be present. The speedway gates open at 5 o'clock in the morning and the race will be started at 10 o'clock.

It is expected last year's mark for the classic will be beaten because of the change in the specifications for qualification. The place of honor is held by Ray Harroun, who in his Marmon Wasp won the race in 402.8, an average of 74.61 miles an hour. Harroun is not driving this year.

Fifty thousand dollars in prizes is offered. The winner will get $20,000 and the driver that finishes second $10,000. Most of the noted American and foreign "speedsters" are in the contest.

FATHER OF TWINS AGED 80.

Fact Not Unusual, Says Aged Brooklyn Student of Eugenics.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 26.—Dr. David Allen Gorton of Brooklyn, the 80-year-old student of eugenics, who has just become the father of twins, said today that there was no reason why a man should not be a father when 100 years old.

He cited the cases of many other men who have become fathers at advanced ages, notably Dr. Harvey J. Wiley, who became the father of a boy of a few days ago at the age of 66, and of Andrew Carnegie, whose daughter was born when he was 62 years old.

The twins were born on April 25. They are as well as any babies could be. The mother is about half the physician's age. The twins are being fed on milk, cereals and fruit, and they will never be allowed meat. For 40 years, the father has lived on a vegetable diet. Most persons, he declares, eat too much, especially meat. Hard work, he said, is a tonic and a panacea for all ills.

TWO ZION SMOKERS ARRESTED.

Special to The Morning News.

Zion City, Ill., May 26.—Open defiance of the smoking ordinance by about forty men and boys tonight led to the arrest of John Horney and Daniel Williams. Their trial was set for May 28 by Justice L. H. Tuttle.

This was the first time a crowd ever had smoked in Zion City's streets and the violation probably would not have taken place had not the crowd been misled into believing that the smoking ordinance would not hold. They gained this impression from the failure of Wilbur Voliva's attorney to prosecute a case against a smoking ordinance violator whose hearing was held in Waukegan today.

As soon as the news of the failure to obtain a conviction in the case became known here the crowd organized and marched up the main street of the city. Pipes, cigars and cigarettes were puffed vigorously. The appearance of the marshal caused a laugh among the smokers, so secure did they feel, and not until two of them had been arraigned did they understand that the law against smoking was still on.

WHAT THEY GAVE THE PORTER.

On his recent trip to California Bert Walker says the Pullman porter acted as though he wanted something from the passengers.

"Oh, anything you see fit to give, boss," replied the porter.

"All right," said Bert. "Boys, let's give the porter three cheers. And they did.—Kansas City Journal.

MUCH DRINKING BY COONISTS OF GERMANY

REICHSTAG ALSO DISCUSSES HOUSEHOLD SLAVERY IN GERMAN EAST AFRICA.

Abolishment or Restrictions Relative to Duelling Planned for Army and Navy.

By The Associated Press.

Berlin, May 26.—The discussion in the Reichstag of the colonial budget brought out interesting remarks about the excessive drinking in the colonies, as well as about household slavery in German East Africa. The speeches of several members it appears that the German officials and the few Germans in the colonies are very heavy drinkers.

Dr. Paasche, first vice president of the Reichstag, who has himself traveled in the colonies, said:

"Our high officials are still compell, as it were, to invest a large part of their income in alcohol. A higher official must drink up nearly $500, and the medium and lower officials correspondingly. They must put the half of their incomes into alcohol."

Herr Davidsohn, a socialist member, claimed that drinking went to far greater excesses with the whites than with the natives, so that it was common among the negroes to say of one of their number when found drunk that he "is as drunk as a white man."

Herr Noske, another socialist, said Southwest Africa was the most drunken of all the colonies, that the Germans there availed themselves of every opportunity to hold great drinking bouts. A member of one of the small anti-Semitic parties finally offered a resolution asking the government to restrict as far as possible the import of alcohol into the colonies for the use of the natives; but upon motion of the socialists the reference to the natives was dropped, and the resolution adopted in its most general terms. Another resolution adopted asking the government to use its influence to have the Brussels congress called together again to adopt more restrictive measures against the sale of alcohol in Africa.

Members also favored fixing a date for the final abolition of household slavery among the native population of East Africa. Dr. Solft, the new colonial secretary, however, expressed doubt as to whether it would be feasible to fix upon a specific date for its abolishment. The government, he said, was doing all in its power to restrict the evil, but it needed further time before it could say whether it would be practicable to fix a date for its abolition. He declared, too, that slavery in Africa was not really so bad as Germans at home imagined.

The recent discussion of duelling in the Reichstag will apparently lead to a strong effort on the part of that body to take some action looking toward abolishing or further restricting the evil in the army. After the Prussian war minister, General von Heeringen, said in the Reichstag that an officer who refuses to fight a duel from religious convictions "does not belong in the social circle of the officers' corps," the clerical party a few days later made a formal motion to have the Reichstag through its leader, Dr. Spahn, against this utterance. He argued that the minister of war placed himself and the entire officers' corps outside of the law through this remark, since both the civil code and the military penal code prohibit duelling. Dr. Spahn called attention to the fact that the minister would exclude from the army all officers who respect and obey the law and said that the matter would be further discussed in committee.

The minister evidently saw that he had gone too far, and at the opening of the next session of the budget committee he made a formal statement designed to break the force of his declaration. He expressed his regret that in the excitement of the moment he had given his view a sharp point unintended by him. This, he said, had led to misconception, inasmuch as he had never intended to represent a man who opposed duelling out of pure and noble motives as being less worthy than others. Nevertheless, the minister argued, in restating his position, asserted in most positive form that "officers who in certain cases refuse to fight a duel place themselves in such sharp antagonism to the fundamental views of their comrades as cannot be tolerated." This, as was pointed out by various newspapers, was but to reassert in other words what he had said before.

The declaration of Dr. Spahn has attracted much attention in army circles, and many officers have written to members of the Reichstag to express their hope that compulsory duelling be abolished; a meeting of officers in Berlin took a similar attitude. It is even asserted by newspapers supporting the anti-duelling cause that a majority of German officers are secretly opposed to the duel, but only acquiesce in it because the dominant circles of the army maintain it. Meanwhile, the clerical party has brought forward a motion demanding that compulsory duelling be abolished, and it appears highly probable that this motion will secure a majority in the Reichstag.

ALONE, ILL, CLAIMS RICH N. Y. RELATIVES

MAN, 72, FOUND IN CHICAGO, SAYS HE IS GEORGE W. PERKINS' FATHER-IN-LAW.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 26.—A man 72 years old, giving the name of Flamin Ball and claiming to be the father-in-law of George W. Perkins, has been found seriously ill in a Chicago rooming house, according to a dispatch received here. He says he is also the father of an officer of the New York Life Insurance company.

Mrs. Perkins was Evelyn Ball before her marriage, and a friend of the Perkins family last night that he thought her father's name was Flamin Ball and that he lived in the West. Neither Mr. Perkins nor his wife were in town today.

At his office it was said that he had been away a week and would probably be back Wednesday. Miss Dorothy Perkins, Mr. Perkins' daughter, said that she hadn't heard anything about her grandfather being ill. She added that she couldn't tell anything more about her mother's father than that his name was Ball.

BROUGHT T. R. OUT; NOT SORRY

Gall and Gab Necessary In National Politics, Declares Depew.

Special to The Morning News.

Washington, May 26.—Chauncey M. Depew, former senator from New York, was a visitor to the senate today.

"I am in my 79th year," said he. "I have no ax to grind, and while I believe President Taft will be re-nominated, my judgment as a political prophet may change after the result in Ohio is announced. I helped launch Colonel Roosevelt on his public career and on the whole feel no regrets for that act."

"Under the working of the presidential preference primaries it will be impossible hereafter to nominate a candidate for president who does not possess two things—gall and gab. He must be able to play to the galleries and he must be able to talk."

"Then, under the popular election of senators plans the complexion of that body will be changed. The conservative and thoughtful men will not contribute to that body their wisdom. The most able men are not always those with the greatest popular following and acquaintance."

"The next step will be to have members of the senate, which will then represent the popular will, chosen according to population and abolish that part of the constitution which says there shall be two senators from each state. The old fight which raged in the constitutional convention will be revived, and New York, with its 9,000,000 people, will again insist that it should have greater representation in this popular body than Nevada, with 50,000, or Wyoming and Arizona, with 150,000 people each."

"Will Colonel Roosevelt bolt if he is not nominated at Chicago?" was asked.

"I do not think so. Colonel Roosevelt has been a party man for 37 years."

LOOKING TO ROOT OR LODGE.

Regular Republicans Said to Be Seeking Compromise Candidate.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 26.—The Globe's Washington correspondent writes:

"That Senator Root or Senator Lodge is likely to be tried out for the Republican nomination for president by the regular republican leaders in case President Taft fails to carry Ohio in primaries was learned here today."

"Senator Root is now in New York for an important political conference. Mr. Root, it is declared, does not want to be drawn into it, but is willing to support Lodge. Within recent hours Senator Lodge has been approached by men understood to represent big financial interests with reference to the use of his name."

"William Barnes, Jr., was in Washington yesterday on a mysterious mission. It is said here to have concerned the movement for a third man."

"Evidence is accumulating that the Republican leaders who have been foremost in backing President Taft are getting ready, if Ohio goes anti-Taft, to spring a sudden and formidable movement for a compromise candidate."

JUDGMENT WILL REVEAL ALL HAM SAYS

SUNDAY AFTERNOON MEETING MARKED BY CONVERSIONS AND CONFESSIONS.

Big Tabernacle on Franklin Street Visited by Overflowing Crowd Sunday Night.

A warning to men that the judgment would reveal every secret of every life with a fervent appeal for men to forsake sin, was Evangelist Ham's sermon last night at the tabernacle.

"A man says 'I have a right to do as I please.' Granted, but the privilege does not give you the right to do it. God has made you a rational being and you can choose, but you will be held responsible for your choice. The day of judgment will call you to account," he said.

"Says one: 'It's nobody's business what I do.' God will show you it is His business. You Masons, Odd Fellows and K. of P.s. who vote to license a man to do a business and then blackball the same man because he's in the business—what a hypocrite this makes you! Be not deceived. God will show you up. God has a record of your life and leaves out nothing. You are living a lie but you will be found out. When men write a life they just write the good side, but God writes both sides.

"If you should take the name of some man's wife or mother and handle it like you do the name of God, there'd be bloodshed soon, yet the day of judgment will reveal you.

"I never curse in the presence of women," says a man, but the ear of God is far more tender and cred than a woman's. You must give account in the judgment for every idle word.

"The worst sin a man commits is rejecting Jesus Christ. God was long suffering with the Jews till they rejected Jesus, then He scattered them till they have no home, are no nation, and have become wanderers on the face of the earth. All this because they cried, 'His blood be upon us and our children.' It will be more tolerable in the day of judgment for the curly-headed cannibal than for you folks in a Christian land who reject Jesus.

"God have mercy on the man who takes a pure woman for a wife, vowing to make her happy, then spends his life in sporting in pool rooms and saloons, leaving her to bear the burden of the family and suffer with a broken heart, and the man who leads his little ones astray by a simple life. The day of judgment will reveal him, and he will writhe in a burning hell and hear his little one cry, 'Oh father, I thought you were my best friend and you brought me to this.'

The afternoon meeting of men was marked by a most scathing denunciation of the scarlet sin, but cheer after cheer as well as hearty amens punctuated the speaker's talk. It was plain talk which men understood, yet always in the most gentlemanly spirit, fired with sincerity with no touch of sensationalism.

A number of men promised to lead a better life and several were converted. Quite an impression was made by one man who made a confession of his wrongs and expressed a desire to preach the gospel.

"Many of the pictures on the walls of Christian homes today are so vulgar they are not fit to adorn a home in hell.

"The average vaudeville show is worse than an epidemic of disease.

"The moderate drinker of the last generation is responsible for the drunkard of this.

"The time is coming and ought to be here now, when a man must show a health certificate before he can get a license to marry.

"The average man doesn't care for the dance. If he is moral he's above it; if he is immoral it is too tame for him, but if he is immoral, it just suits him."

Nearly fifty came forward as backsliders or to make the confession yesterday at the service. Great interest was manifested.

"Just beginning to shell the words today, the week will bring forth great things," said the evangelist.

The crowd last night was a record-breaker. All the extra seats outside the tabernacle, and all the standing room on the lots round about were filled and many were turned away. The speaker's voice could not be heard by a larger crowd if it could be accommodated on the grounds.

The singing of the great mass of voices and instruments is a sound not soon forgotten. This, the opening of the second week of the union revival, promises one of the greatest events in Waco.

Services are held every morning at 10 o'clock and evening at 8. The children's chorus will practice at 4 o'clock today.

Cuban Corps of 800 Can't Go to War, All Officers, No Privates

The corps of 800 veterans, organized to proceed to Oriente under command of General Nunez, will not go at present, the military authorities having declared that there was no need of assistance. Another reason for this action is said to be the confusion which might be expected to result from the fact that almost the entire corps is composed of officers, including many generals.

Thaw Now Bespectacled

The above photograph was taken as Harry K. Thaw was on his way to the White Plains, N. Y., court house to the preliminary hearing of his new fight to be liberated from the Matteawan asylum, where he was incarcerated by a jury for the murder of Stanford White, the celebrated architect, about six years ago. It will be noticed that Thaw is now bespectacled and a little stouter than when he was standing trial for the murder which was the sensation of New York for so long.

SEEK TO AMEND HOME RULE TO DEATH

CONSERVATIVES ENDEAVOR BY THIS MEANS TO RENDER MEASURE USELESS.

Radicals Aim at Giving Dublin Parliament More Power Than the Act Provides.

By The Associated Press.

London, May 26.—Amendments to the home rule bill already handed to the clerk of the house of commons fill 28 closely printed pages of the parliamentary orders. Most are in the names of conservative members and the passage of even a few would make the bill useless. The extreme radical members on the other hand aim at giving the Irish parliament more power and making it more democratic, while some of their non-conformist colleagues would have clauses inserted to guard their fellow religionists of Ulster.

Give Ireland More Power.

With the exception of Laurence Grinnell, a nationalist, with independent leanings, the Irish members have not yet tabled any amendments. Mr. Grinnell's amendments will enlarge the powers of the Irish parliament, and like those of the radicals, make it more democratic. While months will be spent on the committee stage of the bill, few amendments will receive a hearing. The chairman of the committee has the power to choose the amendments that shall be considered, his decision, however, generally being made after consulting with the leaders of all parties.

While most of the amendments proposed by the unionists aim at destroying the bill, there are some that doubtless will receive consideration, as tending to improve the measure. It is strange to find two unionist members, Viscount Castlereagh and Lord Claude Hamilton, both sons of Irishmen, who have both been supporters of Ireland, proposing to abolish their offices and the secretaryship of state, a change that has more often been associated with radical policy.

Would Refer Bill.

Several members would have the bill submitted to the people before being ratified or postponed four years or until the government has carried out the promised reconstruction of the house of lords.

A slap is taken at T. P. O'Connor by the suggestion of one member that the Scotland division of Liverpool, which is represented in the house of commons, by Mr. O'Connor, should for the purposes of the bill be accorded a part of Ireland.

Others would have Ulster excluded from the bill and the committee will propose that it shall apply to England, Wales and Scotland, as well as to Ireland, thus bringing about that federal home rule which was for a few days the policy of some conservatives in 1910.

Second Clause Attacked.

The second clause of the bill, which defines the legislative powers of the Irish parliament with limitations, is attacked from all sides. If all the amendments to this clause were carried the Irish parliament would have nothing to do.

Sir John Barren would give Ulster 14 members in the senate and all of the rest of Ireland 26. The list at present closes with two amendments by Mr. Grinnell, in one of which he would have the bill declared a "money bill," the only kind of a bill that the lords under the parliament act have not the power to delay or interfere with. The speaker alone has the power to declare a bill, so there is not much chance of the suggestion being adopted.

DOG, CRAZED BY BELL, ATTACKS HIS MASTER

Animal Knocks Man to Ground and Fights to Reach His Throat.

Special to The Morning News.

Carlisle, Pa., May 26.—Jacob Heiser, 65 years old, a farmer residing near here, is under the care of a physician as the result of being bitten by his big shepherd dog, which was crazed by the clanging of a big dinner bell on one of the farm buildings.

Heiser's life was probably saved by his son, Elmer, who came to the rescue with a revolver, putting four bullets into the animal before it died.

When the dog rushed at Mr. Heiser, the farmer was knocked to the ground by the attack, and the animal savagely fastened its fangs in the man's legs and tore at his clothing in an effort to reach his throat.

INSURED ONCE A YEAR.

There exists several journals that make their appearance only once a year. These are published within the confines of the North Polar Circle. The Eskimo Bulletin, for example, is edited near Cape Prince of Wales, on Bering Strait.

Here, in a village inhabited by Eskimos, the English missionaries have established a school, and as only one steamer lands at this place, and that only once a year, the news that it brings is consigned to a sheet of paper printed with the mimeograph. Its size is 8 by 12 inches. The paper is very thick, and only one surface is used.

The Eskimo Bulletin in a sub-head claims to be "the only yearly paper." This, however, is an error, for there is an annual sheet published in Godthaab, Greenland, where a small printing office was established in 1862, whence news sheets and lithographic prints have been issued. The journal in question is entitled Atnagadlinit, in Inuktitut, "Something for Reading: Accounts of All Sorts of Entertaining Subjects." The language is that of Greenland, a dialect of the Eskimos.—New York Herald.

SENATE THINKS OF GOING TO WORK

WILL CONVENE EARLIER, CURTAIL DEBATE AND HOLD NIGHT SESSIONS.

Lorimer Case and Heyburn Chief Obstacles in Way of Early Adjournment.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, May 26.—Lower daily sessions of the senate will begin this week with a view to expediting legislation and speeding adjournment of congress as much as possible. Republican leaders like Lodge of Massachusetts and Snodgrass of Utah are trying to bring the session to a close by the latter part of June. Others cling to the possibility of an adjournment by June 15, which the house democratic leaders are pressing, while many senators say that early adjournment is not only impossible but absolutely absurd. The hour of convening will be advanced, debate curtailed and night sessions will be held.

The important obstacles are Senator Heyburn of Idaho and the Lorimer election case. Senator Heyburn says that congress should stay in session until November if necessary, and is counting upon blocking tariff legislation to the last ditch. Republican senators, figuring that Senator Lorimer's friends cannot save him in his fight for retention of his seat in the senate, are urging that Senator Lorimer should resign. Meantime Lorimer's plea of illness, and his request that nothing be done in his case until he can return to Washington have been allowed to rest without action on either side.

Will Begin Night Sessions.

The senate committee on interstate commerce which has been considering proposed anti-trust legislation, will begin night sessions on Wednesday. On the same date Mayor Gaynor and other officials are expected to argue before the senate committee in public buildings and grounds for the proposed appropriation of $2,000,000 for the site of a new court house for the southern district of New York and a new postoffice for the southern part of the borough of Manhattan in New York City.

The Cuban intervention will figure this week in the senate committee on Cuban relations, which will undertake to report necessary legislation to detain when and how the government shall exercise the right to intervene in Cuba under the so-called Platt bill.

DEATH IN SEWER ENDS "HIDE-AND-SEEK" GAME

Atlantic City Child Falls Into Excavation and Is Drawn to Outlet.

Special to The Morning News.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 26.—While playing hide-and-seek with half a dozen other children this morning, Hyman Rayline, a curly-headed boy 5 years of age, strangely disappeared. The girl who was "it" cried, "All out, come in," but there was no response from little Hyman.

After searching everywhere they could think of, the children finally became frightened and notified the parents, who, after another vain search, informed the police. This afternoon the sewer plant telephoned headquarters that a child's body was in the sewer pipe at the outlet, ten blocks from where the children were playing.

Owing to the slight grade, sewage flow is induced by mechanical means, a powerful electric suction fan at the plant drawing both water and the air in the pipes through the outlet. The parents identified the corpse at the plant, the mother giving a piercing shriek and fainting as she recognized her child.

"SLEEPING SICKNESS" DRIVES VICTIM INSANE

CONTRACTS MALADY IN AFRICA. ONCE FOLLOWER OF FANTASY, "ADAM GOD."

Special to The Morning News. Oklahoma City, May 26.—N. J. Weibusch, formerly a prominent Oklahoma City real estate man, was sent to the hospital for the insane today, a victim of the "sleeping sickness," which he contracted in South Africa four years ago, where he went to hunt diamonds in the Kimberly field.

He had to leave Africa to save his life, and returned to this country, but could not shake off the malady, which sometimes left him in a stupor for eighteen hours a day. It finally affected his mind.

Formerly noted as a good dresser, he let his hair and beard grow, and became ragged and unkempt. He was also seized with a religious mania, and was at one time affiliated with the band headed by James Sharp, "Adam God," whose career wound up with a murderous attack on the streets of Kansas City, a few years ago. Weibusch has now become violent and was believed by people on the outskirts of the city to be a wild man.

HUGHES' BOOMLET IS DISQUIETING TO TAFT As Roosevelt Is Against Justice, Compromise Campaign Can't Go Far.

Special to The Morning News. New York, May 26.—The American today published the following from James J. Montague, its Washington correspondent:

"The rumor that Charles Evans Hughes is turning his gaze aloft to the presidency before Mr. Taft learns from Ohio that there is going to be room for another reactionary in the race, has disquieted Taft's friends more than they care to admit."

"Hughes up to date has professed a profound disregard for the nomination. He has reiterated his declaration that he will not get in the game till Taft puts him in, and Taft, being busy trying to keep himself in, has shown no disposition to untie the knot with which he bound Hughes when that gentleman got his job on the supreme court woe."

"It was, therefore, with alarm that the Taft backers learned that Hughes had even deigned to receive a bunch of political diplomats who were looking for a soft place to light if they go down with Taft in the convention."

Will Run to Roosevelt.

"The Taft men know that for Taft to attempt to throw his strength to Hughes at the eleventh hour would be futile. They know, furthermore, that changing candidates just now would be more perilous than swapping aeroplanes in a hurricane. If the Taft steam-rolled delegates are allowed to stand on their feet they will run to Roosevelt as soon as they feel their legs under them again."

"The case with Hughes will be worse if anything happens to Taft in Ohio, and some of the president's earnest supporters don't mind telling you that they expect something is going to happen in that state. Taft will then be expected to get out, but he will not be expected to do any Warwickling. If he offers Hughes to the leaders, they will look over the gift candidate and decide for themselves."

"Roosevelt is as dead set against Hughes as he is against Taft. Hughes as a compromise candidate will not be very valuable. And, if Taft can do nothing for himself, it is not to be expected that he will do much for Hughes."

"MOVIES" TEACH LESSON TO PROTECT WORKERS

Manufacturers, in Convention, Are Shown How to Safeguard Employees.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 26.—Circular saws and emery wheels whirled in the grand ball room of the Waldorf this afternoon, and a workman had his hand cut off. But nobody was frightened, and the police were not notified, because it all happened in a moving picture exhibition that formed an unusual feature of the opening day of the seventeenth annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Association members who are active in accident prevention, had arranged the "movies," pictures to more than two hundred manufacturers who have come from all parts of the country for the convention, demonstrating just how safety devices work. Automatic guards and other appliances were pictured and the result was shown when careless workers refuse to use the safeguards.

Factory fire drills in a New Jersey plant, and a lifeboat drill on an ocean liner, were the subjects of other motion pictures shown.

John Kirby, Jr., president of the association, presided. On the platform with him was Mrs. Harrison Fisher Andrews, the only woman member of the association and president of the Fishers & Norris company, makers of anvils, of Trenton, General Harrison Grey Otis, of the Los Angeles Times, a guest of the association, was also on the platform.

Mrs. Andrews, in her address, denounced labor unions. O. H. L. Wernicke of Grand Rapids, in his address, said that the recent Grand Rapids strike. Present labor troubles would pass, he said, just as a wave recedes that has spent itself on the shore.

William J. H. Bootcher, secretary of the Citizens' Industrial association of Toledo, dwelt on the necessity of industrial education among the workers.

David M. Parry of Indianapolis, said that he did not think that the McNamara trial had cleared the air. "The trial is yet to come," he concluded. "Not from the present labor organizations, but from those that are to come."

NEWS WANT ADS—14-cent a word

MODERN EDUCATION.

By Elbert Hubbard.

The other day a man came to me, bringing with him his son aged nineteen. The boy was quite as big as his father. The father requested that I would supply the young man with a situation, in other words give him a job.

I quite liked the looks of the youngster, and also wishing to accommodate the father, I cast around in my mind for some place that the boy could fill. And my first question was, "What can the young man do?"

And the father turned to the cadaver on the situation by promptly saying, with a look of surprise, "Why, he can't do anything; he's just out of college."

Recently the Associated Press flashed the news that J. Pierpont Morgan has given $10,000 to the Bowers Mission "for the benefit of poor and needy college graduates."

And this was no pleasant. As far as I know, no other laudable Why are college graduates poor and needy? Why is anybody poor and needy?

There are two reasons that the individual hasn't anything that the world wants done. And cannot do anything that the world wants done.

All down the centuries, men divided the world up into the doers and the thinkers. The thinkers did no work, and the workers did no thinking. And the result was that both the work and the thinking were very illy performed.

We are now just realizing for the first time in the history of the world that in order to do good thinking a man must work with his hands a certain number of hours each day. He must live out in the open and mix with the world of workers—the people who are doing things, and the men and women who forth to their labors until this evening.

And thus out of his experience his convolutions will be caused to vibrate.

The man who is going to do good work must be a thinker. And the man who is going to do good thinking must be a worker.

Those things now sound like pure bromides. But it is necessary that they should be affirmed again and again, for even yet there are schools and colleges that cultivate the education de luxe that is supposed to tend toward ease and honors.

There is only one state in the union where school gardens and actual work for every scholar in the public schools, from kindergarten to high school, is being provided. This is the state of Oregon. We have manual training here and there, and occasionally school gardens carried on by patriotic and public spirited persons who form themselves into civic societies.

At Jamestown, N. D., the Northern Pacific Railroad joins hands with the public school system, and the result is a most delightful exhibition right at the railroad station of what big business can do when animated with soul—a thing which we have always been informed corporations do not possess.

Then there is the example of the National Cash Register folks who maintained school gardens ten years or more ago. Now the public school system of Dayton has taken over this delightful betterment inaugurated by that strong and able man, Mr. John H. Patterson.

But in Oregon the whole public school system is committed to manual training and the school garden. For the school teachers to inaugurate this great betterment without the backing up of public sentiment is too much to expect. But in Oregon we have the State Bankers' Association, the State Fair Board, the normal schools, the agricultural colleges, the various ad clubs, the rotary clubs, the business science clubs, all working together to a common end and for one purpose.

I recently met the Oregon State Superintendent of Schools. It was a midday luncheon at the Rotary Club at Portland. These rotary clubs are clubs that make the wheels go round. Superintendent Alderman was there to tell what he is doing, and trying to do, and hoping to do. And the Rotary boys, full of the right intent, were getting in line to do their share.

Many of the city schools in Portland were not equipped, naturally, to carry out this work, and so they were encroaching on the ingers preserve, utilizing vacant lots in the vicinity of the schools.

Each pupil had a little plot of ground of his own. A good deal of liberty was allowed and the youngest made his selection of seeds or plants. Some were intent on raising flowers, but for the most part they were pragmatic, and were raising the things that had a genuine tangible value.

The Bankers' Association had offered prizes for each school, and also for individual scholars for melons, beets, potatoes, corn. Then came a produce association and offered to buy all the popcorn, cantaloupes and watermelons that the children would produce at certain fixed prices. Here was a chance to make sure enough money, and the children were going right after it.

Not only were these school children in Portland and the various other towns and cities, as well as the country districts in Oregon, raising flowers in gardens, but they were planting roses in their cheeks.

Psychology now teaches us that happiness is the true end and aim of life. Unless we are happy in our work, filled with animation, hope and good cheer, the physical faculties are retarded; mentality is stunted, and through lack of resisting power disease, want and woe wait just around the corner.

There is no prophylactic equal to a laugh. Nothing is so hygienic as success. The birth, the ferrie and the cat-o-nine-tails in pedagogy have been replaced by the dog, the spade and the watering pot. And laughter has taken the place of tears.

If a man dares to live within his means, and is resolute in his purpose not to appear more than he really is, let him be applauded. There is something fresh and rare in such an example.

Scolding and nagging never mended anything. They have ruined the peace of unnumbered families.

STEAMSHIP MEN FACE ARREST FOR SMUGGLING

FEDERAL OFFICIALS AT SAN FRANCISCO SCENT BIG PILOT. THEY THINK.

Special to The Morning News. San Francisco, May 26.—The biggest opium smuggling plot ever known in the United States is being unearthed by government officials in San Francisco and arrests will be made.

The government has been quietly gathering evidence for several months and it is known that several officials holding important positions with steamship companies in this city are among the list of those who will be taken into custody.

Several stevedores who purchased valuable realty holdings in San Francisco and across the bay will be called upon to explain how they acquired their wealth.

Saloon men friendly to the smugglers have told all they know. Today every available customs inspector was ordered off the docks and sent into the city in civilian clothes to gather information and keep suspects under surveillance.

Among other evidence is the fact that in front of a certain saloon on the water front a hack was loaded with suit cases filled with opium which was taken to Chinatown and sold.

Another saloon on Third street is known to have been a clearing house for the drug for smugglers who came up Third street from the Pacific Mail dock after the opium had been smuggled ashore from the Transatlantic steamers.

BAR LOW-NECK GOWNS AT CHURCH COMMUNION

Sacrament Will Be Observed Only to Those Whose Bodies Are All Covered.

Special to The Morning News.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 26.—The Rev. M. E. Lynott, pastor of St. Ignatius church, Kingston, where there are 3,000 parishioners, has placed the ban on low-neck dresses and short sleeves. He has informed the members of his parish that no women, young or old, will be permitted to receive holy communion at the altar of his church who have not their bodies properly covered and their arms free from inspection from the wrist up.

It has been made plain to the members of the congregation that any woman who is seen wearing a low neck and short sleeve will be refused the sacrament of the communion. Father Lynott's decree takes effect at once.

DEAD IN CHAIR AS CHILDREN PLAY.

They Did Not Suspect Quiet Old Grandmother Had Died As They Romped.

Special to The Morning News.

Coatesville, Pa., May 26.—Children romping about the house all day seeing their grandmother, Mrs. Lead Warner, 90 years old, reclining in a rocking chair, thought she was sleeping.

At midnight, Fred Ruth, a grandson, arrived home and when he called to his grandmother he received no response. Mrs. Warner had been dead all day. The children went to bed without attempting to disturb her.

Mrs. Warner had been left in charge of the children and after she prepared breakfast for them she sat down in a chair and died.

STRUCK BOY WITH BROOM: HELD FOR CAUSING DEATH

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, May 26.—On the charge of striking Harry Bond, a 9-year-old negro boy of 1126 Druid Hill avenue, with a broom and causing his death, Clifton Watkins, a 16-year-old negro youth, has been committed to jail for court as the result of an inquest held by Coroner Mach.

Bond and Watkins, with Marshall Murray, also colored, of 1114 Druid Hill avenue, were playing in an alley in the rear of the 1100 block of Druid Hill avenue on Saturday afternoon when, it is alleged, Watkins threw a broom at Bond. The handle of the broom struck the boy on the left side of his neck below the ear, and resulted in almost instant death.

"WHAT'S BEER" IS QUESTION UP TO PURE FOOD BOARD

Special to The Morning News.

Washington, May 26.—A personally conducted test of the products of breweries throughout the country to determine just "what beer is," will be made by Doctors Doolittle, Mitchell and Dunlap of the pure food board. The doctors who have been working for a year on the "what is beer" question, received orders from Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, to visit the big breweries and find out all there is to know about making beer.

"The members of the board have not yet decided just what breweries they will visit, but they declared that they would learn all the different kinds of beer that are made."

EGYPTIAN DEODORIZER AND AEROFUME.

While an obnoxious odor is not necessarily harmful, it may cause no end of annoyance and discomfort. Most of the so-called deodorizers are more offensive than the odors they are intended to dispel. The purpose of the Egyptian Deodorizer and Aerofume is to provide a convenient and practical device, instantly available, thoroughly efficient and pleasing to popular taste.

All odors arising from cooking and odors that arise around the home are soon dispelled by their use. They drive away flies and mosquitoes. They are especially nice to use before an "at home," as they act both as a deodorizer and a perfume, leaving an Oriental perfume to the rooms that is so much desired. Try them once and you will not be without them.

Markets

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

By The Associated Press.

New York, May 26.—The stock market last week gave further evidence of subsidence of speculative operations of an organized and comprehensive kind which had been foreshadowed during the previous week. No acute effect for the presidential nomination. The disposition to refrain from active operations in the market, however, was attributed by a desire to await the further shaping of the mixed political prospect and its effect in again unsettling the business revival. Anxiety on that account was allayed by continued good reports from the iron and steel trades.

Besides the political situation, the large requirements confronting the money markets shared in the spirit of speculation. Preparations for financing of the New York subway construction definitely began, involving the securing of capital resources to an estimated amount of $2,000,000.

Assurance is felt that the plan will arrange for the supplies in such installments as to cause the least possible disturbance in the money market and by shifting of accounts for any length of time. Undertakings involving so large an amount, however, cannot be entered upon without provision of credit and security, such is bound to effect available banking resources. Payments for other large bond offerings must also be considered.

It is significant of New York's command of banking resources that the week should have seen a renewal of lending to Berlin in spite of the heavy demands ahead of our own market. Good auguries of the French money market were drawn from the eighty two fold subscriptions for the Paris municipal loan of $41,000,000. The effect is quickened, however, by the determined discrimination of French investors for home enterprises ever since last year's Moroccan crisis. Warnings by German financial authorities of danger from industrial expansion given point to the hardening of discount rates in Berlin.

The coming Chinese loans makes another item in the banking account. Speculative excess in London involved some liquidation last week that had the appearance of being forced. Fresh labor troubles in London and Hungary directed renewed attention to the broad social discount, the world over. The anthracite miners' settlement assumed immediate anxiety in the country. The demands of the eastern locomotive engineers are in arbitration and those of the firemen still to be disposed of overhang the future.

The decrease of corporation net earnings for 1911 of $115,560,000 as reported by the international revenue commissioner, was another item for digestion during the week. Further demands from railroads for steel products, keeping the mills running close to capacity and striving to effect deliveries combined with exports of great proportions projects by the railroads, make a groundwork for keeping up speculative confidence.

Another jump in the wheat market gave new importance to the unsolved problem of last year's harvest. There were further estimates also of the acreage forecast of cultivation of cotton.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

By The Associated Press.

New Orleans, May 26.—The cotton market this week promises to be dull. It is hardly possible that any large operations will be attempted by either side with so many holidays as there will be days of inactivity on both sides of the water, and the first report of the season on condition at hand. Last week it was very noticeable that large interests kept out of the market and this week they will maintain their waiting attitude. The figures will be issued June 4.

This week there will be several rather important private forecasts of the figures, which may sway the market to some extent and will go a long way toward molding public opinion regarding the government's estimate on condition. Whatever trading may follow such private reports, both sides will have the desire to even up before the government report itself, and liquidation toward the end of the week will probably be heavy.

The weather over Sunday, over the entire belt promises favorably, which ought to result in a lower opening for the new week. At the same time the bears will not be able to take much advantage of good weather and crop reports because of the universal belief in a bullish report on condition. The weather for the next week will of course have no connection with the estimate of the condition to be issued June 4.

The trade will eagerly watch for news from the crop that will have bearing on the question of acreage. Reports recently tended to show that a much larger area than expected will be planted to cotton in both Mississippi and Oklahoma. Further evidence will tend to lessen belief in a greatly reduced acreage, such as has been entertained for some time past.

The trade is still at sea over the date of the acreage report. The general expectation has been for a condition report alone on June 4 and a condition acreage report the first week in July, although semi-official statements at the end of last week made it appear that the markets would get both acreage and conditions reports on June 4.

COTTON GOODS REVIEW.

By The Associated Press.

New York, May 26.—Although trading in cotton goods was quiet during the week, the steadiness of values continues a marked feature of the situation. Aside from soft spots in fine combed yarn cloths and some grades of prints to the convertibles, prices are attractive enough to induce the placing of further contracts by the round users of goods, whose early summer requirements were placed three or four months ago. Jobbers have not been buying except in a hand to mouth way by the manufacturing trades, using shirting, cambric, colored cottons, solists, etc., which have been ordering moderately.

Retail and jobbing distributing for the week was better than in the week preceding, due to the more settled weather conditions. Most of the leading cotton goods merchants believe that trade may be quiet for a few weeks, possibly until after the political conventions, but later on they think

Unless the democrats can beat the Colonel, it looks like we had just as well order the crown for the coronation.

If Tarrant county can get Col. B. B. Paddock to run for the legislature, and he is elected, the people will have done a good day's work. One of the faults with this state is the lack of good business men who go to the legislature. It is hard to get a man who has any self-respect to enter an unseemly race for an office that does not pay enough to return the outlay in making the race, besides the chance of getting defeated by some cheap skate who plays upon the passions and prejudices of the voters. Texas needs more good business men to help make our laws. The law-making department has been monopolized too long by lawyers, generally young lawyers, who have very little, if any, experience; who are anxious to have political preferment, and in consequence pander to the prejudices of the populace. Captain Paddock is a splendid gentleman, and he would make Tarrant county a representative that every citizen could point to with pride. There is another thing that must occur before we can get the right material to serve in the legislature of Texas. The people must learn more tolerance and be willing to vote for a man who has the necessary business qualifications, regardless of whether he is a prohibitionist or an anti-prohibitionist. As long as men are elected on just one issue, incompetent men will be chosen and the state will suffer in consequence, and demagogues will retard the growth and the development of the state by keeping the state in a constant turmoil and confusion. The News believes that there are capable, conscientious business men who are willing to sacrifice their time for the benefit of the state if those who are interested will seek them out and ask them to offer for election. Texas ought to have the very best available material in the legislature, but unless good people try to get good men to run, pledging them their support, the politicians and the demagogues with axes to grind or spoils in their minds will secure the nominations and the elections. Give us more men like Captain Paddock.

The advertising men had a good time in Waco. Every citizen tried to show the visitors what real hospitality meant and they left the city feeling that they had been welcome. There is no better way to build a city than to extend a glad hand to every stranger within the gates of the city, and make them feel just like they were welcome, and that we would like for them to unpack their grips and stay always. May these distinguished gentlemen return again some day, when Waco can have more time to show them longer courtesy and give them an opportunity to see more closely the many institutions of the city, and have time to understand what greatness the future holds out for Waco. These ad men are people to do things and who make things happen, and they are the kind of people that the citizens of Waco want to come and make Waco their home. But even if they do not care to become citizens of Waco her people want them to feel so kindly toward Waco that, though they may never come this way again, they will sing the praises of the city so loud that others may hear the song and become interested in the city about which the song is written. Come to Waco.

The people of Massachusetts are trying to get up a boom for W. L. Douglass for president of the United States, now that it is quite evident that no one of the avowed candidates will be able to be nominated, unless there is a radical change in sentiment. Mr. Douglass is a good business man, and was at one time governor of the state, but he did not stand for re-election. He preferred making shoes to being governor. He found the life of chief executive of a state more arduous than supplying the people with shoes. When Mr. Douglass ran for governor, he used the newspapers for his publicity, telling the people in one page and half page advertisements why he should be the governor. He ought to have business sense enough to make the state a good governor.

There was once a woman, a seamstress and a widow, who labored from 4:30 in the morning until late at night to keep her two growing boys in school. Her one supreme passion was a love for Nature and all her children, and though her greatest joy was when she was among growing things, she was never able to gratify her desires along this line. Sometimes, when the evening dusk was creeping on, making her little room too dark for her to sew, she stole out into her neighbor's tiny corn patch and there dug and hoed among the green stalks until the swiftly fading light was completely gone. Then, with renewed vigor and a happy heart she went back to her drudgery again, with the cheering memory of her few minutes' respite as an incentive. We who have the time to leisurely enjoy the plants, flowers, birds and the streams do not realize that there are many people who actually long for a few moments' hard work midst even the commonest of plants without ever gratifying this longing. There are people who treasure a dandelion blossoming in the emptiness of a bare front yard; while there are others who waste enough flowers in a week to make happy the hearts of many such unfortunates. Joy is the rightful heritage of all, and we who are overwhelmed with this should remember that there exist many, many less fortunate than we who could be made happy with what we waste or what we do not in the least appreciate. We could easily make others happy by sharing part of our plenty with them, and we could also more fully realize what these privileges should mean to us. There are scores of poor creatures who would never forget the gift of one flower or the happiness of one hour in the country. Can you not think of such a person? If so, it is to your shame that you do not make that heart lighter and bring the laughing light of joy to those longing eyes. There are many like the little seamstress to whom a ride through the country would mean just so many minutes with their Maker, and it is our duty to seek these people out and see that they are allowed part of the happiness intended for them by their Creator. We are sinning against Him who made us not to follow the dictates of our conscience along these lines and thus make easier the burdens of our fellow men.

It will soon be canteloupe and watermelon time. And then will come luscious peaches, purple grapes and other delicious creations of nature for man's delight and man's sustenance. We are hard to satisfy if we are not happy when the rich red-hearted watermelon, ice cold, is placed before us, and the juice runs down the corners of our mouth.

Kindness brings its own reward, and if we are not willing to be kind merely for the sake of others, we have a more selfish motive to spur us on—the satisfaction that true kindness affords to the giver. There is nothing to compare with this feeling, and there is no way of obtaining it except through deeds affording happiness to others.

It is a test of one's character and courage when the opportunity is presented to say something about a competitor. If it is a kind word, if it is complimentary the test has been met, and the world is better for it.

James H. Garlic has been nominated for office in Ohio. He ought to make a strong run.

We think that we are smart, but few of us can look beyond the narrow confines of today.

Any fool can be a dead angel, but it takes a very wise man to be a real live wire.

A philosopher is a man who can enjoy fishing when he does not get a bite.

It is to be hoped that we will not have to intervene in Cuba again.

This is a glorious night. The moon is sailing majestically through a cloudless sky, shedding a soft glow over field and forest, city and town. The air is laden with the ozone that invigorates and makes the body tingle with health. It is glorious to drive out in an automobile along the highways that run like white ribbons between the green prairies that are laden with fragrant flowers, across rippling streams, along whose banks tall trees shake shimmering shadows down, dashing in the valleys cool with the coming of the night, puffing up rock-crowned hills by quiet farm houses, close beside fields laden with an abundance of golden grain, far away from the busy city, with its dust and its noise, where Nature tells her wondrous stories in a thousand ways. The whippoorwill softly calls unto his mate in the shadows where the moon beams peep timidly through the clustering leaves, the bull frogs croak down in the old swimming hole, and insects of the night are singing in the waving grass, happy and contented, trusting implicitly in Nature to provide the things necessary to their pleasure. There are many such glorious nights as this in Texas, but many of us fail to get away from the city's din and strife and do not realize the matchless beauty of a cloudless May time night. We walk along with our heads down, our eyes staring at the sand, when we should look up at the sky and behold the manifestation of God's gracious thoughtfulness and His unequalled splendor. The music of the wind as it plays among the bending grain is as sweet as angels' songs, and the shimmering of the moon beams upon the bosom of the lake are as beautiful as a seraph's face engaged in heavenly occupation. On such a night as this one realizes his dependence upon a divine being and understands how gracious is the Providence that provides such exquisite loveliness for humanity to contemplate and enjoy without money and without price. One is thrilled with the wondrous spectacle as the moon moves on across the sky, noiselessly threading its silvery way in and out among the stars, and one is conscious of the presence of divinity close beside him as the perfume of the field flowers float out upon the evening air and the far-off call of a house-dog baying at the moon mingles with the sound of the panting car. As the car moves on and on, and the winding road lies far behind and still ahead it glistens in the mellow light, the witchery of it all weaves fancies in the mind, and it seems that we are in the land of dreams, and this is the dream-maker man's most exquisite creation.

Everybody is ambitious of possessing a good memory, yet there are times when a good forgettery is of equal or of greater value. Along the following line try to improve your forgettery: Forget the ribald jests, forget the unfavorable criticisms of others, forget unkind words, forget the sneers that spoil the happiness of those who whom you come in daily or occasional contact. Forget to repeat what Mr. Jones said about Mr. Smith's awkwardness, or Mr. Brown's son falling from grace, or how Mrs. Williams lost her false hair. Forget to let your mind dwell on unclean things, forget to lose your temper, try to forget that you are sick and tired and dispirited. Forget that you are you, and let your mind dwell on things pleasant, and try to let your mind dwell upon thoughtful, considerate acts for others. Forget the ego, and while you are doing this your mind and soul and heart will thus be freed from the petty worries of the day, and the cares that infest the night will fold their tents and silently steal away. Your spirit thus freed from bondage will lift your eyes unto the mountains whence cometh help, and as the unpleasant things are expunged from your life, the residue will be strength and sweetness of character, and you will have exercised much good, even if it be in a negative way.

As the world progresses and co-operation is more and more found to be preferable to competition, the world grows more friendly and the right spirit is more thoroughly disseminated.

The quarrels of Christians who belong to different churches always seemed the most foolish thing in the world. We could never understand why people who had one fundamental thing in common should fall out and quarrel like little children over non-essentials of salvation. A close study of the times seems to warrant the statement that churches are more closely affiliated than they have ever been in the history of the world, since the birth of the different denominations, and that this close, friendly relation will enable them to make a much more decided impression upon the outside world.

If you are talking about your fellow citizen in an uncomplimentary way, stop it right now, and go out among his friends and see what good you can find that he has done, and tell your friends about it. Any carping critic can find a flaw in any one, but it takes a big-hearted, generous gentleman to forget the bad and repeat only the good. There is plenty of good in the lives of every one, if we will only look for it. You have no monopoly of the goodness and virtue, and when you find this out you will be happier and more contented.

Man is naturally a home-loving animal. In fact, most animals are home loving. And when a man asks a woman to share his life, it is usually taken as a gentle hint that he wants her to make him a home and take a sort of general oversight of his affairs and a special oversight of himself. He likes to know that she does things for him just for the reason that she loves him, and is interested in him and his well-being.

If you would gather up all tender memories, all the lights and shades of the heart, all banquetings and reunions, all filial, fraternal, paternal and conjugal affections and you had only just four letters with which to spell out that height and depth and length and breadth and magnitude and eternity of meaning, you would with streaming eyes, and trembling voice, and agitated hand, write it out in those four living capitals—H-O-M-E.
